

Peter Popovich

Peter is dedicated to assisting others in identifying and attaining their goals. His mission is “to transform lives daily.” Coaching others brings meaning and purpose to his life!

With over 30 years of sales, marketing, and management experience in corporate America and as a small business owner, Peter has a broad and deep understanding of personal and professional development. He has the unique ability to empathize, connect and synergize with his clients so that they are motivated to clarify their goals and then implement the action steps necessary to achieve them.

Peter has a rich and varied professional history. The first eleven years of his career were spent utilizing his Mechanical Engineering degree at Westinghouse Electric Corporation in domestic and international sales. After earning a Masters in Sports Administration, Peter served for four years as the Athletic Foundation Director at UNC Charlotte. For the past 18 years, Peter has built a successful career in Charlotte residential real estate. Currently, he is owner of a successful Keller Williams Realty franchise, member of the Interact Authentic Speaking and Presenting faculty, a motivational teacher and public speaker and a business and life coach.

Having been born in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and having lived in Caracas, Venezuela, Peter is trilingual. He is an avid squash and racquetball player with regional rankings in both sports. He is a former state tennis champion and member of the Case Western Reserve University Athletic Hall of Fame. He loves to read and learn!

Peter is married to Realtor Virginia Popovich and they have a daughter, Natalie, who is starting her college career at UNC Greensboro majoring in Music.
